

Sean Nary CSCE 242 Topic Selection

Website Name

ContentCatalogue.com

Description

ContentCatalogue.com is a website that will track and log your favorite TV series, movie trilogies, and novels. At ContentCatalogue.com, users can keep track of new release dates, check insightful statistics and get recommendations for new series! Users will be able to rate their experience with the media and see what series they have watched/read the most.

ContentCatalogue will be the perfect hub to stay informed on all your favorite series, whilst recording your thoughts and reviews on past content. Everyone loses track of their “favorite show” every once in a while, so keep it altogether on ContentCatalogue.com.

Page Names

- Welcome Page / Login or Signup
- Track your progress (Your TV Shows / Movies / Your novels) (Ratings/rankings)
- Your profile / list (to do list/shows/books/movies to watch)
- Recommendation page
- Community page (most popular / highest rated)

Data

ContentCatalogue.com will be storing multiple lists of user information. It is essentially split up into two sides with multiple lists each... one of the pages will contain what you HAVE watched/read and it will contain your review/rating. The other page will contain what you HAVE NOT watched/read. This is so that you have all your content centralized on one page and you don't forget about that book or movie your friend told you about one day.

